What happens if I change my PC or if my PC crashes?

Each purchase of an eBook can automatically generate a code twice – one for the initial installation and a second should you change your PC or if your PC crashes. If you require further technical assistance you can contact our IT department who will be able to generate unlock codes manually.

I am a subscriber to Seamanship Library. Can my eBooks be used in conjunction with the Library?

Yes, Any eBooks added will be seamlessly integrated with Seamanship the Library, although it should be noted that they are 'one-off' purchases and are not part of the Library subscription.

This means that the eBooks will continue to be accessible even if the Seamanship Library subscription expires. They will not be automatically updated in the event of a new edition, unlike the contents of the library itself.

If you are currently using our eBook Reader, the new Seamanship Library+ will automatically find all the eBooks already installed on your machine.

Can I keep two different editions of a publication on my eBook Reader?

Yes, this is possible. Surveyors who need to access older versions of documents can install a new edition and just not remove the previous one.
